BUILDERS HONOURED FOR ENERGY EFFICIENCY

More than 200 home builders, energy experts and construction professionals attended the 2005 EnerQuality Excellence Awards ceremony as EnerQuality Corporation recognized Ontario's leaders in new, energy-efficient homes. Mason Homes was honoured with the Energy Star Industry Leader Award (sponsored by Owens Corning) for its outstanding contributions.

"Mason Homes was our top EnerGuide Builder last year, and very soon after we launched the Energy Star program, they saw the opportunity to take their homes to an even higher level and made Energy Star the key to their building and marketing strategy," said Lenard Hart, Director of Business Development for EnerQuality

Corporation. "They were the first in the GTA to begin building all of their homes to the Energy Star standard and have promoted the benefits of energy efficiency throughout the industry."

An Energy Star home is 30 to 40 per cent more energy efficient than the Ontario Building Code requires, reduces greenhouse gas emissions, and saves homeowners up to $1,000 annually on utility bills.

HOLIDAY GATHERING AT CLASSICAL REFLECTIONS

Buyers at the low-rise communities in Mississauga by The Daniels Corporation enjoyed a festive gathering with food and music over the holiday season. The party brought future neighbours together as Daniels opened up a special home for the event — that is, the Haydn Model Home at Classical Reflections in the Erin Mills neighbourhood. Homes at Classical Reflections include semis and detached homes up to 3,108 square feet. Prices start from the mid $300,000s. Reflections of Streetsville homes are priced from in the mid $400,000s.
